

Brexit and the City

I won't take it the wrong way to make little mention of sth be cut adrift from the capital

a severe blow to sth

trading shares

derivative trading

to shift over to

a neutral venue

to tap into the investment base

to win out

to lag behind

when the rubber hits the road

a technology hub

savvy engineers

to streamline a process to revive the city

be toast

to look stilted

regulatory alignment

be under way

to rekindle the relationship to meet in the middle

a mass exodus of jobs

nowhere near sth

a trickle

wealth creation

to manage the flow of capital be clustered around the bay area
