photographic images

painful history

to set fire to sth

to sit still

to engulf

martyrdom

to flee from

to weep

have a profound effect on an anti-war movement to make your heart rise to stare directly into the camera

a response to the plight of refugees to paint on canvass

to break a spell

unblinking in its honesty

a disturbing work

the immediacy

the ethics of seeing

on the surface

a record of reality

distortion

an act of observation

complicity

to hit hard

to flood with emotions

outrage

the sense of impotence

the right to protest
to send shivers down the spine an assault on a legitimate government infinite kindness of strangers
