

Bizdaily 17 June 2024 Too much tourism

to span every continent

weariness

to outweigh the positives

to proclaim sth

sustainable tourism

from all the walks of life

to raise voices

to go off the rails

prime beneficiaries

the influx of visitors

seen as a nuisance

unliveable

to revitalise

jaywalking

trespassing

the epicentre of

to experience sth first hand to stand still

on daytrips

to take a selfie

to weed out

to restrict the head count ageing population

to sense instinctively

to relieve the pressure

the us-them mentality

to find a middle ground

generous tax breaks

to brush up under the carpet

budget rentals

to grab a cheap flight

an elitist activity
